Through its expertise and global network, AlHuda CIBE continues to support the advancement of Islamic finance by developing professionals, strengthening institutions, and promoting innovative Shariah-compliant solutions. The organization is committed to bridging the gap between conventional insurance and Takaful, contributing toward sustainable, inclusive, and ethical financial growth worldwide.

About Sukuk & Islamic Capital Market Department

Sukuk Department at AlHuda CIBE is a specialized division focused on the development and structuring of Sukuk. The department offers comprehensive services, including feasibility studies, Shariah structuring, legal documentation, and market placement. The Sukuk Department has been involved in numerous high-profile Sukuk issuances across various regions, providing innovative solutions that align with the specific needs and regulatory environments of different countries. The department's expertise spans across different types of Sukuk structures, ensuring that each issuance is tailored to meet the issuer's objectives while complying with Shariah principles.

Overview of the Sukuk and Islamic Capital Markets Sector

The Sukuk and Islamic Capital Markets sector is a vital and rapidly expanding component of the global Islamic finance industry, providing Shariah-compliant alternatives to conventional bonds and investment instruments.

Sukuk are financial certificates that represent ownership in tangible assets, usufructs, services, or project investments, structured to comply with Islamic principles that prohibit interest (riba) and excessive uncertainty (gharar).

Islamic Capital Markets encompass the ecosystem of instruments, institutions, and infrastructure that facilitate the issuance, trading, and investment of Shariah-compliant financial products. With increasing global demand for ethical investment opportunities, supportive regulatory developments, and the integration of ESG (Environmental, Social, and Governance) factors, the Sukuk and Islamic Capital Markets industry continues to create new opportunities for innovation, financial inclusion, and professional development on a global scale.

Program Overview

The Global Professional Development Program on Sukuk and Islamic Capital Markets is designed to connect professionals with global Islamic finance expertise through structured virtual learning and practical exposure.
