About Training

As the Islamic finance industry continues to expand across global markets, adherence to internationally recognized Shariah standards has become essential for ensuring transparency, consistency, and credibility. The Accounting and Auditing Organization for Islamic Financial Institutions (AAOIFI) has developed globally accepted Shariah Standards that serve as a benchmark for Islamic banks, financial institutions, regulators, Shariah boards, and practitioners.

This Two-Days Specialized Online Training on AAOIFI Shariah Standards is designed to provide participants with a comprehensive understanding of the principles, structure, and practical implementation of AAOIFI Shariah Standards in Islamic banking and finance. The program will bridge the gap between theoretical concepts and real-world applications by exploring key Islamic financial contracts, governance frameworks, product structuring, and compliance requirements.

Led by renowned industry experts and Shariah scholars, the training will offer practical insights, case studies, and interactive discussions to help participants strengthen their knowledge and effectively implement AAOIFI standards within their institutions.

Learning Objectives

By the end of this training, participants will be able to:

- Develop a comprehensive understanding of AAOIFI and its role in the global Islamic finance industry.
- Understand the structure, scope, and objectives of AAOIFI Shariah Standards.
- Apply AAOIFI standards to Islamic banking products and financial transactions.
- Strengthen knowledge of Shariah-compliant contracts, including Murabaha, Mudarabah, Musharakah, Ijarah, Salam, and Istisna'.
